I've got a 'Phelan' that things are about to get very dramatic down Weatherfield way. So dramatic, in fact, that I've got a very strong 'Phelan' that we won't be able to use this 'Phelan' joke for much longer in Inside Soap.

Yes, the end is nigh for Pat – and it seems his wife Eileen will be the one who's instrumental in his downfall. The pair have been spotted filming some tense scenes that will see Phelan plunge into the sea, and you can enjoy a sneak preview over on p10.

We've loved Phelan's antics over the past few years, and will miss gasping at his twisted scheming (plus, we're going to very much miss Connor McIntyre, who plays him, as he is one of the most friendly and charming soapies we have ever met). But just as all good things must come to an end, so it seems all bad things must too. And this bad thing will most certainly go down in Corrie history!

First with the week's HOTTEST headlines...

Will Vincent abandon his family?

EASTENDERS | BBC1 WEDNESDAY

HIS FEAR OF AIDAN CAUSES HIM TO THINK THE UNTHINKABLE...

Kim and Vincent are in financial dire straits...

...and Aidan will kill if he doesn't get what he's owed

Desperate Vincent is preparing to walk out on wife Kim and daughter Pearl this week, terrified Aidan will kill him if he doesn't pay up.

He's been given a deadline to sell The Albert and hand over the cash to Aidan, to atone for Vincent's part in the death of his brother. The issue is that Vincent's buyer pulls out at the last minute, and it looks as if he can't settle up with the violent criminal. Fearing for his life, Vincent decides the time is right to leg it – without Kim or their child.

"Vincent doesn't think of this as being selfish – he believes Kim and Pearl are in danger if he stays," says our Square snitch. "Aidan doesn't do second chances, and Vincent has seen that he's prepared to go to scary lengths to punish people who cross him. Vincent thinks he's living on borrowed time. That's why he decides to write a note and prepares to leave."

Things go from bad to worse for the bar owner when the sale falls through, and then he can't find Kim's engagement ring to pawn. The expensive jewel could have been his key to quickly getting some cash, enough to show Aidan he's serious. While he's scrabbling around for money, poor Kim is trying to give their little girl a birthday to remember. It's not possible for her to throw the lavish dos Pearl is used to, so she and Vincent take her to see children's entertainer Magic Marv instead. The

“Aidan will see to it that Vincent's life in Walford is over...”

SORT IT OUT, VINCENT!

InsideSoap says... What exactly has happened to the Vincent Hubbard of old? You know: the smart, scheming and confident Vincent Hubbard.

Back when he first came to Walford, we enjoyed watching this smooth operator doing deals and flirting up a storm with Ronnie.

These days, however, Vincent is put upon by everyone. If he's not being nagged to death by Kim, he's being bullied by the likes of Aidan and Phil.

We don't mind conflict, but seeing Vincent steadily turned into a coward is not our idea of fun. Let's face it, stories about characters coping with being skint are never entertaining. Instead, let's get Vincent back to the alpha male he once was, and enjoy seeing him get one over on those who've crossed him!

Hubbards try to make the best of it, but the trip makes Vincent feel even more wretched about losing everything – so he insists they will make it up to Pearl with a proper party the next day.

But Vincent's plans come to nothing when Aidan swoops in and warns him that time is ticking, and then Kim finds out that he's fallen behind on their mortgage repayments. The reality of their declining wealth is becoming clear, and even Donna takes her brother aside to find out what's up. Vincent's only hope is The Albert, and when it looks as if the sale can't happen, he feels that there's no choice but to run.

"His life in Walford is over, Aidan will see to that," sighs our gossip. "He has to stay one step ahead now and try to survive. He can't take Kim and Pearl on the run with him, but Vincent reasons they have family who'll take care of them and so writes a letter to say goodbye. However, when he's ready to leave, a call comes in that changes everything!"

It turns out Vincent can sell the bar after all. Now Kim never has to know what he planned to do – unless Vincent has left evidence behind...

Carla's last chance to live!

WILL AIDAN'S KIDNEY SAVE HER LIFE?

Carla and Aidan's lives hang in the balance this week, after they're taken into theatre for their kidney transplant operation.

As you can imagine, the whole Connor clan is on edge as they prepare themselves for what lies ahead. So will both Carla and Aidan come through the surgery unscathed – or could there be heartache in store for Carla's loved ones if the transplant isn't a success?

"This is a major operation, so inevitably it comes with some degree of risk," admits our Coronation Street source. "But although Aidan knows he's putting his own life on the line, he's determined to go through with it for Carla's sake. Without this procedure, she'll die – and Aidan really wants to be the one to save her."

When Carla first arrived back on the cobbles, she was desperate to keep her kidney failure to herself. Her close friend Roy was the only one she confided in – but as her condition grew worse and she became increasingly ill, Roy persuaded her to tell her family what she was going through.

Carla's half-siblings Kate and Aidan were both keen to help, and got tested straight away to see if they could be donors. Aidan was happy to find out he was a match, and

Carla is terrified of what the future holds as she waits for surgery

"It's curtains for Carla if the operation isn't a success"

didn't hesitate in offering Carla one of his kidneys. It was a bittersweet moment for Carla – because while she doesn't want to see her little brother go under the knife, she knows it's her only chance of survival.

However, as the pair arrive at the hospital to get prepped for surgery, the reality of what they're about to go through starts to hit home. Johnny and Kate are by Aidan's side as he's wheeled up to theatre, and Carla isn't far behind him.

As they wait for news from the surgeons, Johnny and Roy share stories about Carla, and both confess how much she means to them – but all they can do is hope and pray that everything goes to plan...

"This really is Carla's last chance, so if the operation isn't a success then it's curtains for her," sighs our informant. "In reality, this transplant is just the beginning for Carla and Aidan – there's a long road to recovery ahead for both of them. And Carla really has to hope that her body doesn't reject Aidan's kidney, because if it does, then she doesn't have very many options left."

Meanwhile, as Carla and Aidan arrive back from theatre, Carla stuns her family with a massive announcement. What does she have to say – and has the surgery gone without a hitch?

Sarah Ellis

Carla's loved ones are gathered around her

WHAT CAN SHE EXPECT?

A transplant isn't a straightforward operation for Carla...

Aidan's kidney may be a match, but that doesn't mean Carla's body will accept it. Kidney transplants can fail, though on average 75 per cent of transplanted kidneys survive for 10 years or more.

The operation isn't the end of the story. Carla will still have to take drugs for the rest of her life to prevent her body from attacking the new kidney. These weaken the immune system, leaving her prone to infections or a serious illness such as cancer.

If Carla's body does reject Aidan's kidney, she can have another transplant. If no other relatives were able to donate, Carla could be put on the waiting list for another donor – but she would have to undergo dialysis in the meantime to keep her alive.

A healthy diet and lifestyle is especially important for those who have received a transplant. Carla will have to lay off the Shiraz for a start! She'll need regular check-ups to make sure her kidney is performing as it should.

Victoria tries to get her brother to let his hair down

EMMERDALE | ITV WEDNESDAY

Aaron makes his move on Robert!

HE FINALLY REALISES HIS TRUE FEELINGS AS HIS EX GOES OUT ON THE PULL...

Aaron dumps his boyfriend Alex this week – after he grows jealous of ex Robert hitting the town on the hunt for a new man.

Robert's impromptu night out is organised when Aaron asks Alex to move in with him – on his and Robert's wedding anniversary of all days. But as upset Robert is dragged out to a gay bar by his sister Victoria, Aaron is hot on his heels, desperate to talk. So will this be the moment Robron finally get back together?

"Aaron sees Robert talking to this good-looking lad – and his true emotions are brought to the surface," shares Danny Miller, who plays Aaron. "Aaron has been battling his feelings and trying to move on from Robert – but when he finds out Victoria's taking him to a gay bar, this new level of jealousy opens up, and he just wants to put an end to it. So he goes there to talk to Robert about the possibility of trying again..."

As Alex moves into Mill Cottage, Robert is mortified, and Victoria feels his pain. Even though she instigates his night on the pull, she invites Aaron to the bar as well – after sensing that Aaron is yet to draw a line under his former relationship, despite the big plans with his new beau.

"Part of the reason Aaron asks Alex to move in is the guilt of having very nearly cheated with Robert recently," explains Danny. "But there's also a problem with Alex's boiler, and he's been in trouble at work, so Aaron is just trying to help him out – as Aaron does! The fact that he and Robert almost kissed means that Aaron has realised things with Robert run deep, and he's not sure he can see a future with Alex after all."

So the last thing he expects after arriving at the bar is to bump into Alex, who's there for a drink with a workmate! However, there's a bigger shock in store for Aaron when he spots Robert being chatted up by a handsome stranger. The shock of seeing Robert moving on gives Aaron the moment of clarity he needs – and he breaks up with Alex.

"Alex is the only obstacle blocking Aaron's way back to Robert," admits Danny. "Realistically, he's only been trying to make things work with Alex because his mum Chas says it's such a good idea, and Liv keeps telling him that he needs to move on from Robert. She's very supportive of Alex, too.

Alex is clever, good-looking and he won't cheat on Aaron..."

Aaron watches Robert get cosy with another fella

Aaron has to do the right thing – and breaks up with Alex

"But Aaron feels relieved when he finishes things for good," continues the actor. "It's the first time he's admitted that he misses Robert, and he can't come up with any more excuses. Alex is a great person – he's a doctor, he's clever, he's good-looking, and he won't cheat on Aaron. But Aaron's feelings for Robert are just too strong to ignore!"

Once Alex has left, Aaron finally makes his way over to Robert – but what will his ex make of what Aaron has to say? And can they manage to work things out at last?

"I think they'd be in a healthier place this time," says Danny. "Robert has matured because of his son Seb – having to man up and be an almost single dad since Rebecca was injured in the crash. And Alex has given Aaron a different outlook, too. It's all about growing up, and it's an interesting new concept for them both..."

Back to the future!

With a wedding on the cards, we asked our friends on Twitter and Facebook how they would like to see life pan out for reunited Robron...

"I'd love them to get the wedding of their dreams, no drama for once, and raise Seb together. Maybe in the future, an adoption storyline to have a sibling for Seb."

Julia

"An adoption or surrogacy plot. It would be such an interesting watch and draw light on the struggles for a gay couple going through the process."

Betsy

"I hope that they split up again. I do not like them together ☹️"

Talvi

"Definitely something light-hearted. We deserve to see them happy for once!"

Mary

"I'd love to see Robron running the pub. Their comedy moments are WAY more interesting than angst..."

Hannah

"Strong, united front... NO MATTER what happens. NO CHEATING"

Brittany

"Let's see them both taking on Joe Tate – what a battle and a half that would be. With them both getting Home Farm, of course!"

EILEEN KILLS PHELAN IN CLIFF-TOP PLUNGE?

His deadly deeds look set to tip her - and him - over the edge...

Sneak
ON-SET PICS!

As previously reported in Inside Soap, Corrie is planning an epic showdown between Eileen and Phelan, which will see her finally learn the truth about his monstrous killing spree. However, the latest gossip is that the pair will become locked in a fight to the death - with Eileen sending her horrid hubby tumbling into the sea!

"It's a moment that viewers won't want to miss," enthuses our Weatherfield spy. "With many residents on the Street now working against Phelan - including his own daughter, Nicola - all he has left is Eileen. What sweet justice it will be if she's the one to finally put him down!"

According to a tabloid newspaper, Phelan's murderous ways will be revealed while he and Eileen are away on a mini-break. The bodies of Andy Carver and Vinny Ashford are set to be found at the Mill building site, prompting Liz to call Eileen and tell her everything. However, the situation will take a very dark turn for Eileen as she and Phelan are out walking - and as the bad-boy builder looks set to add his wife to his list of victims, she sidesteps his violent attack and he falls off the cliff! But will it be sink or swim for slippery Phelan?

Street bosses are keeping tight-lipped about whether the rumours are true, but stars Connor McIntyre and Sue Cleaver were spotted filming in the coastal town of Whitehaven in Cumbria. Our sneaky snaps show the pair aboard a boat - and who can say what's in foul Phelan's mind? Despite the tense scenes, however, star Connor was all smiles as he took time out for countless fans who stopped for a selfie.

"He plays an evil man, but Connor is one of the nicest stars in soap," confirms our spy.

Tune in for Eileen and Phelan's holiday from hell next month.

Phelan's face says it all as Eileen boards the boat...

...but the Corrie stars are clearly on better terms than their alter egos!

Careful that Phelan doesn't snap more than a photo, love!

KAT'S RETURN FROM A WATERY GRAVE!

Kat had a 'dead water' experience

The Slaters are in for one hell of a shock...

The residents of Walford will think they've seen a fishy-looking ghost when Kat Moon returns this spring! Rumour has it that the leopard-print legend will crash her own wake at the Vic, after word gets out that she's died...

"Viewers know that Kat took swimming lessons as a child, and survived almost drowning in the Redwater sea," grins our Square sneak, referring back to Kat's near-death experience in the EastEnders spin-off show. "But that information fails to reach her loved ones as they go ahead and plan her funeral. Imagine the shock they'll get when she rocks up looking fresh as a daisy!"

We'd love it if Kat's 'return from the dead' saw her appear before her old friends dripping wet and covered in starfish – but that's just our overactive imaginations! What we do know is that no drama is being spared for the Square siren's huge comeback, as she returns to wreak havoc alongside Stacey, her mum Jean and Big Mo Harris.

Star Jessie Wallace, who plays Kat, has been back filming on the EastEnders set for some weeks now, and her co-star Laila Morse (Big Mo) has helped to build excitement on social media. "Big Mo will be back soon," she posted on Twitter. "Not too long to wait now!"

The Slater clan's hotly anticipated reunion really can't come soon enough...

TYRONE CHEATS ON FIZ!

CORRIE

Brace yourselves for the cobbles love triangle no one saw coming, as dependable Tyrone does the dirty on Fiz – with Gemma!

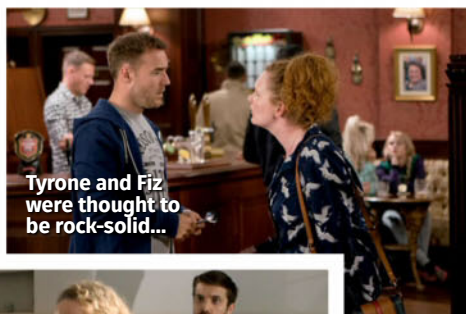

Reports claim that he'll risk everything for a one-night stand with the Street wild child, who is set to become public enemy number one after the locals learn of their fling...

"Viewers are going to be yelling at their TV screens and shouting, 'What the hell is Tyrone thinking?'" despairs our Weatherfield source.

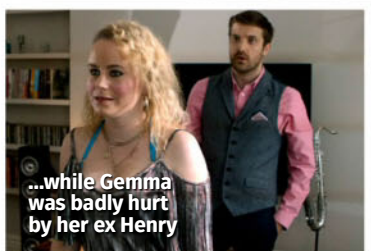

"He and Fiz have a lovely life together with their children Hope and Ruby, so what on earth would possess him to cheat? He knows how it feels to be betrayed. Why put Fiz through such terrible heartbreak?"

The pair are currently apart while Fiz is away visiting her mum, Cilla. Meanwhile, Gemma has sworn off men after learning that her last boyfriend Henry began dating her for a bet.

Corrie bosses are staying tight-lipped as to whether the gossip is true, but insiders suggest it won't be long before Fiz learns the awful truth. Will she find it in her heart to forgive Tyrone?

Tyrone and Fiz were thought to be rock-solid...

Esther is by Grace's side as she takes on Glenn

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 MONDAY

Glenn pops the question!

WILL GRACE AGREE TO BECOME HIS WIFE?

Grace has a huge decision to make this week, as Glenn asks her to marry him – right after she accuses him of having an affair!

It's no wonder Grace is suspicious of Glenn's actions, given that he spent the night with Cindy and then threw it in her face. And it turns out the fans aren't impressed, either...

"The viewers hate this relationship – everyone on Twitter wants Grace to get rid of Glenn!" laughs Tamara Wall, who plays her. "It's so horrible to see her with such a mentally abusive man, and some of the scenes have been hard to film. I want to stamp my foot and go, 'No! Why is she doing this?'"

Even Grace's best friend Esther can see what a monster

Glenn is – so when Grace asks for help in spying on him, Esther jumps at the chance to prove that Glenn is a wrong'un.

"Grace hears a few weird phone calls and decides to find out exactly what Glenn is up to," Tamara tells us. "She asks her best friend to help her out – and Esther is happy to get involved. She thinks that if they find out he's with another woman, Grace will dump Glenn. But it all goes horribly wrong."

After spotting Glenn in cahoots with Granny Campbell, Grace jumps to the conclusion that she's his mystery woman!

And she's outraged that he's traded her in for someone who's not even a younger model...

"Those scenes were so funny to film, because Grace is in disguise – and the way she's dressed is not subtle on any level!" chuckles Tamara. "When she sees Glenn with Granny Campbell, though, she just thinks, 'Oh wow, am I really so bad that he's having an affair with a granny?'"

Sadly, things get worse for poor Grace. Hoping to catch Glenn in the act with his mystery woman, she storms round to the Folly to confront

"Grace thought that Glenn had been buying jewellery for his mystery woman, but it turns out it was a ring for her," sighs Tamara. "At this point Grace feels very stupid, and she's in that same position where she has to apologise to Glenn."

The surprise may be ruined, but Grace is still desperate to become Mrs Donovan. However, Glenn's proposal comes with a condition, as he makes it clear that there'll have to be changes if she's to become his wife.

So, will Grace agree to Glenn's outlandish terms? Or will she finally realise that he's trying to control her, and give him the elbow for good?

Billy has a request to make of his brother when they meet at the cemetery...

...but Lee is in for a more painful meeting with Josh and David

David's rough justice!

HE TEAMS UP WITH JOSH TO TEACH LEE A BRUTAL LESSON...

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

There's a vicious attack on the cobbles this week, as David makes Billy's brother Lee pay for once hurting Sarah.

Lee is back on the cobbles thanks to Billy's descent into painkiller addiction, and David isn't happy that the man who took his sister hostage is again roaming the neighbourhood. So he enlists the help of Josh – who is disturbingly enthusiastic about the chance to put the frighteners on Lee. But as the two men corner Lee in an abandoned garage, is David in over his head?

"While David has done plenty of sinister things in his time, this attack on Lee is quite different," shares our Street snitch. "What happened between Lee and Sarah was quite a while ago, and it's a grudge that really doesn't need to be revisited. But David keeps getting egged on by Josh, who seems to relish the chance to inflict pain on defenceless Lee. It shows a pretty scary side to him."

Before Lee's brutal encounter with David, he's back in Billy's life after the strung-out vicar makes a desperate plea for help. Billy is going through agonising withdrawal from his painkiller medication, and the process is hell on earth. In a moment of madness, Billy calls Lee and begs him to meet up in a local cemetery so they can talk. And once there, Billy shocks Lee with an out-of-character request...

"When Billy returns from seeing Lee, he's a changed man," shares our insider. "He's upbeat and chipper, a far cry from the sweaty, shaky patient he was earlier in the day. It's hard to know what to think, and his friend Eileen is worried – she wants answers from Billy. He insists that it simply became clear that his main focus has to be Summer, and he's got his act together for her. But the words ring hollow."

Sadly, the effect of what's happened in their lives has rocked Summer to her core, and Billy is heartbroken to discover she's now bottom of her class at school. He knows he can't afford to let things slide any further, and rings Lee to beg for more drugs – which is when Sarah spots her one-time kidnapper. She's terrified, and rushes to tell David that Billy's brother is back in town. Little does Sarah know that she's set in motion a chain of events they'll all live to regret...

Tracy considers stealing from her own dad to try to escape her plight

Will Tracy sleep with Phil?

AS HE THREATENS TO REVEAL HER DIFFICULT PAST, TRACY IS A DESPERATE WOMAN...

Tracy is in for a horrible shock this week, when Phil threatens to reveal that she once worked as a prostitute!

Tracy is distraught as the penny drops that handyman Phil was once a client of hers. But after he goes on to share the fact that he's in possession of a video of the two of them – which he'll show to her husband David unless she hands over cash – she's beside herself...

"It's harrowing for Tracy – she feels violated," sighs Amy Walsh, who plays her. "She's always been waiting for the rug to be pulled from beneath her because of her past. Naturally she didn't want anyone knowing that she was once a prostitute, so as Phil plays her the footage on his phone, it's just horrible. She's terrified that she's about to lose everything."

When we first met Tracy, she was working for a sex line, attempting to dupe dopey customer Sam Dingle. But Phil's appearance reveals another part of her chequered past, something she'd hoped to keep buried forever.

"Before Phil shows her the video, she just thinks he's a bit weird," explains Amy. "There've been moments where they've had a laugh or whatever, and she wonders if maybe she's got him wrong. It never entered her brain that he could have been a client, though – not until he tells her."

The idea of David watching the video leaves Tracy cold. But with Phil demanding money

Tracy is horrified when she realises who Phil is – and what he wants she just doesn't have, she's forced to consider stealing it from her own dad, Frank.

"While Tracy is so vulnerable in that moment, her streetwise mentality starts to come back," Amy tells us. "It's been buried while she's been in the comfort of the village, but her fighter instinct is kicking in again, and she'll do whatever she has to do not to lose everything.

"Tracy is desperate, so she steals money from a safe at the shop," continues the star. "Frank has been saving the cash to buy a necklace for Megan. But as Tracy goes to hand it over to Phil, her conscience pricks at her."

“Tracy is so vulnerable – but then her fighter instinct kicks in again”

DOOMED TO DISASTER?

With Tracy and David's marriage on the line, Amy admits there are tough times ahead...

What's it been like revisiting Tracy's past with this story?

I've liked it, actually, because a really positive message will come through – nobody does what Tracy's done unless they're pushed to it. So hopefully it will mean people are reminded that not everyone has it easy, so not to judge them.

David and Tracy's relationship hasn't been in great shape lately – and she still doesn't know that he slept with Leyla...

David managed to talk Tracy round after she accused him of having an affair with Priya – she's bought his lie. But they've been a bit rocky since Leyla left at Christmas. Tracy's always been insecure in their relationship because of her past. She's usually on the back foot a bit.

Are viewers going to be surprised by how David reacts when he finds Tracy with Phil?

Tracy completely believes that David will always be there for her, no matter what. But I think she's overestimated him...

The situation takes an even more unsavoury turn, however, when Phil suggests an alternative form of payment – implying that Tracy will have to sleep with him again.

"Her initial reaction is disgust," reveals Amy. "But he's saying, 'It's not like you haven't been paid for it before'. That makes her feel so small and desperate. He drives off and she's left in the street, crying her eyes out. What can she do, though? It's either that, or she'll lose everything."

With no options left, Tracy meets Phil at a hotel. But there's another dreadful shock to come when David turns up!

"David is suspicious because Tracy's been acting so strangely, so he follows her," shares Amy. "Even though she's disgusted by Phil, she's been forced to go along with his demands – and the two of them are on the bed together as David opens the door and walks in..."

Can Tracy's husband save her from the slimy clutches of Phil – or will his appearance make her horrific predicament a hundred times worse?

Nicola's shock collapse!

WORSE STILL, PHELAN IS ON TO HER AND SEB...

Killer Phelan spies oblivious Seb in Nicola's flat

Pregnant Nicola is rushed to hospital this week – after she collapses in agony while talking to Sarah.

Continuing to dig for dirt on killer dad Phelan, Nicola tries to help Gary mend his relationship with Sarah during a frank heart-to-heart. But as she and Sarah talk, the mum-

"It's a horrifying moment for Nicola," sighs our cobbles source. "She's terrified that she's losing her baby. She's been under so much stress due to the horrible situation with Phelan and her complicated relationship with Gary. Both men are there as the doctors try to find out what's wrong with her, and both are desperate to know that Nicola and the baby are going to be all right."

Unfortunately for Nicola, Phelan has also rumbled his daughter's plot to find evidence against him. Earlier in the week, he steals her key, has a copy cut and heads over to her flat to find out what she's hiding there. Once inside, Phelan spies Seb... which is all the confirmation he needs that Nicola is on to him. The killer is angered by his daughter's duplicity, and as he slips out unseen by Seb – who has headphones on – his brain starts working overtime.

However, when Nicola fields a call from the police about an

LIZ WARNS EILEEN!

But will she listen?

intruder at her flat, she guesses that Phelan has rumbled her. She's certain that he will try to stir up trouble for her and Seb, and warns Gary to be careful.

Sure enough, Phelan pays Gary a visit at the Mill site and coldly informs him that he's worked out what they've been plotting behind his back. But before Phelan has time to deliver the same chilling warning to Nicola, she's rushed off in the back of an ambulance.

"Phelan blames Gary – he's convinced that Nicola has been brainwashed by the Windass family," shares our spy. "Even now, when he knows she's betrayed him, Phelan can't stop loving her and his unborn grandchild. Nicola's actions have wounded him – but she may be the one person who can get away with it..."

Now everything is out in the open, Phelan has some choices to make where his hospitalised daughter is concerned. As he asks to speak to Nicola alone, what does he plan to say?

Kate White

Worried Liz tells Eileen exactly what she thinks of Phelan this week – and it's not complimentary!

Plain-speaking Liz cheerfully slags off the builder to his wife, and miffed Eileen immediately demands an apology. Realising she might have gone too far, Liz invites her friend to the Bistro for a truce over lunch – but instead of biting her tongue, she gives Eileen another lecture on the subject of why Phelan is bad news, and tells his open-mouthed missus that she should end their marriage forthwith!

That's the last thing Eileen wants to hear, especially as she tries to ignore her own instincts when it comes to her dodgy spouse. Will she continue to stand by her man, or will Liz's words resonate, and inspire her to make a break?

I want a divorce!

MARTIN AND STACEY ARE FURTHER APART THAN EVER...

Martin's troubled marriage seems doomed this week, when he tells Stacey that he wants a divorce!

The couple have been estranged since Stacey confessed that she'd slept with Max, but while they are doing their best to keep things amicable for the sake of their kids, Martin decides to call it quits – and contacts a solicitor about a formal separation. As he breaks the news to Stacey, however, are either of them ready to move on?

"Stacey's fling with Max has been a total heartbreaker for Martin," sighs our Walford spy. "It's not like he and Stacey haven't weathered major storms before, but they've always ploughed on and found a way through. Max has been a major thorn in Martin's side, though. He's all too familiar with Max and Stacey's history, and doesn't seem to believe they can ever get past Stacey's weakness for her ex."

Martin and Stacey's week gets off to a particularly bad start when the troubled pair – who are determined to unite as a family for the day – take the kids to see novelty act Magic Marv at the community centre. The whole show is a disaster, and Martin ends up even more miserable after realising that Stacey has invited Kush along.

She insists that as Kush is Arthur's dad, that's how it'll have to be from now on...

"Stacey points out this major pitfall as the two of them struggle to get used to their new set-up," explains our mole. "Martin ends up taking it out on Marv, whose act is total rubbish anyway. Stacey witnesses the whole thing, and tries talking it over with Martin afterwards. But they just can't agree on anything – and Martin later tells Sonia that he wants a divorce, and emails a legal firm."

Martin has a quiet change of heart the following day, however, as Stacey apologises for their latest blow-up – and the pair manage to call a truce over their children. When Martin realises his new lawyer has already emailed Stacey about the divorce, he tries intercepting the message by rushing round to his former home – but it's his turn to apologise to Stacey when he's caught out. He believes he's smoothed things over after insisting that he doesn't want to get lawyers involved – but will Martin's new-found optimism prove premature?

"He's determined to sort things out with Stacey," says

our snitch. "So after Sonia asks about how fair Stacey's plans for childcare are, he's not concerned. He's even breezy when Kush turns up at Stacey's to collect Arthur at the same time as he's there."

As the two men hang out in the café, it seems Martin and Stacey may have turned a corner. But how long will it be before the harsh reality of their separation trumps civility?

Allison Jones

Stacey reads the email from Martin's lawyer before her estranged husband can get to it

TARGET: MARTIN!

Mystery girl Hayley has him in her sights...

The girl who was recently seen lurking in the Square and spying on Martin makes her move this week, stunning him with a flirty kiss on the cheek! But just what is her game?

No-nonsense Hayley has clearly been tasked by a mystery associate to get close to Martin, who has no idea that she has been taking photos of him. She recently recorded evidence of him and Stacey having a huge slanging match in the Square – which portrayed Martin in a bad light when his wife alluded to the idea that he might hit her. Is Hayley's mission to collect proof to harm Martin's case for custody of the kids?

Whatever her plan, Hayley makes herself known to him this week, and the pair seem to hit it off, much to Stacey's dismay. But as Martin enjoys the attention from this stranger – who possesses all the hallmarks of a Slater lass if ever we saw one – does he risk taking his eye off the ball and giving Stacey the upper hand?

Ross self-destructs!

HE'S UNABLE TO DEAL WITH LIFE
FOLLOWING HIS BRUTAL ASSAULT...

The physical and mental scars left by Ross' acid attack take their toll this week, prompting the devastated fella to wish that he were dead.

Feelings of anger, hurt and frustration continue to plague Ross in hospital as he struggles to cope with his injuries, leaving Pete deeply concerned for his brother's state of mind...

"Ross is a broken man," reports our Emmerdale insider. "He genuinely would rather be six feet under than endure the pain and psychological torture of what has happened to him."

Pete realises that Ross is in a bad way after he wishes that their late mother, Emma, had shot him instead of their other brother Finn. There is very little Pete can do or say to help Ross, other than tell his sibling that he loves him and offer his support.

However, Ross is clearly beyond help when he discharges himself from hospital and disappears – before turning up at the garage and giving Dan the shock of his life. After stumbling across a hooded man and believing him to be an intruder, Dan bravely pins the bloke up against the wall. But when he pulls the hood away from the guy's face, he's stunned to see scarred Ross staring back at him.

"Ross suddenly becomes very aware that he is out in public, and struggles to contain his anxiety as he frets that people are staring at him," explains our mole. "All his confidence has been completely stripped away, and he feels a shadow of the man he once was."

With Pete finding it difficult to get through to his brother, the tension between them threatens to explode as Ross enters a pit of self-despair that seems to have no bottom.

Meanwhile, Debbie is horrified when Ross declares that he wants to find the person who attacked him. She is of course responsible for the whole thing, having paid drug dealer Simon to target her nemesis, Joe – who only avoided the assault because her lackey mistook Ross for him.

So while Ross plots his revenge, what situation does that leave Debbie in? And can anyone save Ross from the self-loathing that threatens to consume him?

Can we try again?

MICHELLE
BUILD BRIDGES
WITH ALI...

Anxious Michelle tries to fix the mistakes of the past this week – but will Ali accept an olive branch from his estranged mother?

Now her son is back in Weatherfield, Michelle has been forced to confront their painful situation, and she's hoping they can begin to forge a real relationship despite the past. However, Ali has made it quite clear that Michelle is a stranger to him and he has no desire to change that – a decision that his biological mum struggles to accept...

"What's sad is that everybody involved in the baby swap saga was a victim," sighs our Street informant. "Ali and Ryan were just innocent babies caught up in a horrific mistake, and their parents had no idea that they went home with the wrong sons all those years ago. Michelle and Ali's first attempt at getting to know each other years ago was a disaster. With the benefit of hindsight, Michelle feels she has a second chance to bond with Ali, but she's worried he won't ever forgive her."

"The troubled teen is still lurking under the surface"

However, Michelle is pleasantly surprised when she heads into the Rovers this week and spots Ali sitting with her ex-husband Steve. Despite their divorce, Michelle and Steve have remained on good terms, and the fact that Ali is enjoying a laugh with Steve is a good sign, as far as Michelle is concerned.

Steve was her partner when the baby swap nightmare unfolded, and he witnessed what they all went through close up. So after he sees Michelle and asks Ali if he is happy for her to join them, can reconciliation be that simple?

"Time has passed, but those scars are deep," muses our snitch. "Ali has done a lot of growing up since Michelle last saw him, and he's an accomplished young man. But that abandoned, troubled teen is still lurking under the surface, and Michelle has to take responsibility for her part in that. It's unlikely that they'll be sharing a cuppa and conversation any time soon."

Upset Michelle later gives Liz a piece of her mind, demanding to know why her

Liz was the first person to encounter returned Ali former mother-in-law didn't warn her about Ali working at the local medical centre. It's a sobering moment when Liz admits that she only kept quiet because Ali told her to – but she promises Michelle that she's on her side. So when Liz encounters Ali again later, she advises him that he shouldn't be so hard on Michelle, and to consider giving her a chance.

With everything that's happened, though, will Ali ever change his mind?

REBECCA'S AGONY

It's been really heartbreaking watching Rebecca in Emmerdale this week – it must be distressing enough to wake up from a coma and not remember what happened, but then to find out that your dad and sister are dead is just horrible. All she has left now is killer Lachlan!

🗨️ | Monique, Hemel Hempstead

ON THE UP

In reply to a comment on last week's Soapbox about EastEnders, I disagree that the plotlines are 'boring'. My opinion is that since the previous producer left, the storylines have become much better, and the new and returning faces (the Taylors, Masood and Mel to name a few) have been a welcome boost after last year. Yes, there's still room for improvement, but John Yorke (the current producer) has done a really good job to make the show more dramatic and tense.

🗨️ | Louise, Leicester

The future looks bright – and 2017 doesn't look as if it'll be remembered as a vintage year...

Mel's dramatic new plot included being crudely pasted into Walford backdrops

KILLER COBBLES

What's happened to Coronation Street? It's turned into a trailer for a Quentin Tarantino movie! The viewers will start to be killed off soon, as well as Phelan's victims!

🗨️ | Joanne, Sheffield

I do hope not, Joanne – the number of episodes I watch a week, I'm sure to be a goner!

Myra couldn't kiss anyone with more peroxide in their hair than her

TRUE LOVE CONQUERS ALL

It was so lovely to see Myra finally commit to being with Sally in Hollyoaks. Their romance may not be conventional, and I'm sure it will take Myra a while to wrap her head around being in a same-sex relationship. But deep down, they are best friends and they make each other laugh – so bravo to Hollyoaks for showing that love comes in all shapes and sizes.

🗨️ | Maggie, Newcastle
Could this be the first romance of Myra's to last the distance?

PARKER LIFE

It was great to see Sue Parker back in Neighbours this week. I love how the show has weaved in her son Jayden, and now we find out that her husband was the man who Fay Brennan was with on the night that Hamish was murdered! However, I feel there may be some confusion among the locals when Stu Parker arrives back for Toadie's 'birthday' party!

👉 | Becky

Fun fact for you – Kate Gorman, who plays Sue Parker, is the real-life mum of Olivia Deeble, who plays Raffy in Home and Away!

BABY WITH NO NAME

Am I the only EastEnders fan who's wondering what happened to Abi's newborn daughter? Not much has been heard about her – surely given now that Abi's gone, the family will be eager to look after the little lass.

👉 | Allie

Given how twisted the Brannings are, maybe it's best for the baby if they just forget she exists!

FANYASTIC

I was very surprised by Yasmeen's reaction to Rana's affair in Corrie. I really thought she would hate her for what she'd done to Zeedan, but the fact that she could see Rana's pain shows what a caring person Yasmeen is. I wish she was my nan!

👉 | Leon, London

We all need someone like Yasmeen in our lives!

PERFECT PAIR

I liked your feature about what couples should be together in soap. Can I add another vote for Emmerdale's Bernice and Graham, please? That Daz is totally beneath her if you ask me!

👉 | Sally, Edinburgh

You heard it here first, Emmerdale – the people have spoken!

Bernice needs to give Daz the elbow

SHARON'S GOT THE CASH

Yes, in a shocking twist (predicted by Inside Soap three weeks ago – just sayin'), it turned out that Sharon had half-inched the heist money from Ben. And everyone was delighted to hear it...

No show goes from good to bad and back again as often as EastEnders, but there's always one consistent thing you can rely on – the brilliance of Sharon Watts (as I'll always call her)! Sharon having the money has been the one positive thing to come out of this whole robbery storyline.

👉 | Linda, Cardiff

It felt like old times watching Sharon and Mel have their stand-off about the stolen money. It reminded me of the glory days of Phil vs Steve Owen. What a shame that Steve Owen was killed off all those years ago. I'd give anything for him to suddenly walk into the middle of the action one Monday night!

👉 | Perry

I shouted at the telly when that Ciara called Sharon a "low-rent housewife". How dare she?! This is Queen Sharon of Walford she's bitching up. I hope Sharon puts that Ciara right back in her box and keeps every penny of the money!

👉 | Trevor

Speaking of the money, one aspect of this storyline is causing some confusion...

I don't understand why Ben hasn't come back. If he hasn't got all the money, what is he living on? And if everyone knows he hasn't got all the money, then why does he have to stay in hiding?

👉 | Gabby

Perhaps Ben has developed a taste for French food? Or maybe he's just glad to have a bit of peace and quiet for five minutes. With a family like his, I can't say I blame him!

YOUR TRICKIEST SOAP QUERIES ANSWERED...

Noah's age proved to be an interesting Emmerdale story arc

WHO NOAH'S HIS REAL AGE?

I am confused as to how old Noah is in Emmerdale. In a recent episode we were told that he is 12 years old, but I'm sure Chris Tate died in 2003, which would make Noah at least 15, surely?

📧 | Andrew

Chris did indeed die in 2003, and Noah was born in March the following year, – while his mum Charity was banged up after being framed for his dad's murder! Although Charity recently referred to Noah as being 12, Debbie pointed out that he was actually 13 – and he will celebrate his 14th birthday next month.

EASTENDERS | BBC1 MONDAY

COULD TINA SOON BE REUNITED WITH HER DAUGHTER ZSA ZSA? LUISA BRADSHAW-WHITE FILLS US IN...

Luisa Bradshaw-White is one of our favourite soap stars. Fun, funny and totally irrepressible – when you meet her, you’re soon sighing wistfully, “Oh, I wish that she was a mate of mine”.

Of course, Luisa's EastEnders alter ego Tina is game for a laugh as well – at least most of the time. However, Tina's highs tend to be followed by terrible lows, when she's left to deal with the consequences of her devil-may-care misadventures. Her one-night stand with Billy Mitchell is the talk of the Square – and the gossips will have yet more to chat about when they hear what Tina gets up to this week...

“She wakes up with a tattoo that she has no memory of getting!” chuckles Luisa, who joins us to rake over the details of Tina’s latest antics. “The day before, she gets really drunk with kids’ entertainer Magic Marv, who’s putting on a show at the community centre. Then she wakes up the next day with a shocking hangover and this tattoo.

"She's horrified by it, and it makes her think about her life," adds the star. "But it's fun to play Tina when she's going off the rails and her life is a complete shambles!"

Poor Tina has been struggling to hold her head up in Walford ever since Billy unwittingly blurted out the truth about

“I love it when Tina’s life is a complete shambles!”

their night together to his fiancée Honey. To add to Tina's shame, Honey also knows that she was behind the hit-and-run accident that put her and Billy's young daughter Janet in hospital last Halloween.

"Tina is carrying this huge guilt about splitting up Billy and Honey," says Luisa. "She's not in a good place, and she isn't proud of the way she's been behaving. Meanwhile, Shirley is being quite mean to Tina as she is concerned she's just not getting her life together."

After a lecture about her behaviour from both Shirley and Kathy, Tina knows it's time she turned over a new leaf. But then her world is shaken by a blast from the past.

Rushing to the aid of a heavily pregnant girl at the café, Tina does her best to help – though she's later puzzled when she spots the same girl at the Vic, and Shirley giving her money! When she confronts the pair, Tina learns that the girl is a friend of her estranged daughter Zsa Zsa named Georgi.

"Zsa Zsa has sent Georgi to the Square to get help," Luisa tells us. "Georgi has badly fallen out with her own mum, you see. The problem is, Tina is left feeling put out that Zsa Zsa has never bothered to get in touch to explain all this."

"To add insult to injury, it turns out that Zsa Zsa has asked Shirley to help Georgi instead of Tina – which makes Tina think about the current state of her relationship with Zsa Zsa. They've been going through a 'bad patch' for years, and Tina's not mature enough to fix it."

All this talk of Zsa Zsa means Inside Soap simply has to ask the big question:

Tina isn't proud of the way she's been behaving

does Luisa want mother and daughter to kiss and make up after all this time?

"It would be interesting to see Tina try to pick up where she left off with Zsa Zsa," reckons the star. "But even if Tina wants to have a relationship with Zsa Zsa again, she's petrified about having her back in her life after so long."

"If Zsa Zsa ever comes back, Tina will need to be tough enough to deal with huge amounts of grief because of all the mistakes she has made as a mum."

FIVE FAST FACTS

Luisa was born on 9 December 1974, and her first big acting role was Maria Watts in Grange Hill – alongside future Walford cast mate Lisa Hammond (Donna).

2

Another of Luisa's famous roles was wild child Kira in 90s drama This Life, while in 2001 she arrived in Holby City to play staff nurse Lisa Fox.

3

In 1997, Luisa appeared in the video for Elton John's The Way You Look Tonight with Kate Moss, Sophie Dahl and This Life co-star Ramon Tikaram.

4

Luisa knits together with cast mate Kellie Bright (Linda) – and has crafted snoods for many of her EastEnders cast mates, and her dog Harry!

5

After a civil ceremony in 2006, Luisa went on to marry musical theatre star Annette Yeo in 2015 – and the couple have two daughters.

Dear Liz...

Liz McDonald dishes out unwanted relationship advice to her friends this week. Which got us to thinking... wouldn't she make the perfect soapland agony aunt?

“Everyone hates me!”

Dear Liz...

I've done a bad thing. Many bad things! (In fact, if I'm honest, I can't remember when I last did a good thing.) At Christmas, after alienating all my neighbours, I ended up sleeping with my married ex. Soon after, my daughters fell from the roof of the local pub and one later died. (My son died the same way a few years back – weird, huh?) Now everyone hates me! What can I do?

Yours mournfully,
Max from Walford

Aw, Maxy. That's made me dead sad that has. My advice: do something to stop your family climbing all over that bloomin' pub! (Or mebbe ask the landlord to put up some sort of railing?) I work in a boozer meself, and I can promise you that nay beggar has ever fallen off the top of it.

As for making friends... Well, you kindly included a photograph with your letter – and you look quite the little pocket rocket! I've always found bald men that bit more... frisky, if you know what I mean? Should you ever end up down Weatherfield way, give me a bell – I'll put a smile on yer face!

“I’m still in love with my ex!”

Dear Liz...

I’ve just started a new relationship with a lovely doctor called Alex, though I don’t think I’m being honest with myself. I think I’m still in love with my ex, Robert. He says he’s changed, but I’m tired of having my heart broken. What should I do?

Yours confusedly,

Aaron from Emmerdale

I gotta say, Aaron, I love it when I get letters from the gays. Some of me best mates are gay, and I can rely on them for a good night out and a proper natter. We always go to a drag show, which is great for fashion tips. So why don’t you do the same – get yourself down to your local gay bar for a good boogie? I’m sending you a fiver so you can have a Bacardi Breezer on me.

As for your choice of fella, I say: keep both on the go and see who gets knackered first! But if you have to choose – go with your heart. I always went back to me husband Jim, however much he let me down. So I’ll give you the advice he always gave me: “Catch yerself on, there!” Whatever the heck that means.

“I’m taking another woman’s baby!”

Dear Liz...

Sorry – I don’t want to reveal my name and I’ve disguised myself in my photograph. But here’s my story... after failing to conceive by IVF, my partner and I used a surrogate. But the surrogate lost our baby and I haven’t told anyone! Then I found out that my sort-of-stepsister was planning an abortion, so I’ve offered to pretend that her baby is mine. I just want to check... this is all normal, isn’t it?

Yours hopefully,

~~Toyah~~ ANON

Oh, lovey – you’re in a bit of a pickle! Funnily enough, I work with a lass who also had a terrible time with IVF and is using a surrogate herself. But that’s all going well, I’m happy to say – and even if it weren’t, she wouldn’t be such a daft ‘apeth as to lie about it! I mean, her fella’s a ragin’ alcoholic, and finding out something like that would send him straight to the bottom of a bottle of Bell’s.

But enough about my Toyah, this is supposed to be about you, in’t it? My advice is: that all sounds like a great plan. Least said, soonest mended, an’ all that. Keep your gob shut, and I’m sure nothing can go wrong.

“Mandy & Darren just can’t control themselves!”

HOLLYOAKS | Channel 4 THURSDAY

If we discovered at our wedding reception that our new husband was already married, and had a teenage son he’d failed to mention, we’d be furious and want revenge – but sleeping with your husband’s best mate is not the answer!

Yet that’s exactly what Hollyoaks’ Mandy did on her wedding night, after finding out that Luke was a bigamist. And although she and Darren agreed to put their secret night of passion behind them, it seems they just can’t keep their hands off each other...

“This kind of thing does go on in real life, doesn’t it?” muses actress Sarah Jayne Dunn, aka Mandy, as we grill her on her character’s extramarital shenanigans. “You often hear about people who have reconnected with an old flame – either online or when they’ve bumped into each other again after years apart. So what I like about this story is that the affair is happening with someone who Mandy has history with. I think that makes it believable.”

We can certainly see how the lines have become blurred between Mandy and Darren, who first dated back when they were teenagers. But that doesn’t stop the whole situation from being incredibly messy – particularly as Mandy has chosen to forgive Luke for lying and give their relationship another go.

“Mandy is committed to Luke – they’ve been together a long time, and she’s stuck with him through thick and thin,” Sarah tells us.

“Luke was Mandy’s first love, and I think she almost feels like she needs to be there for him, because he will fall apart without her. She knows that what Luke did was wrong – but if she leaves him, what will happen to him? There’s a sense that they need each other, but at the same time they’re probably not right for each other.”

To add to an already strained relationship, Mandy and Luke now have Luke’s son Oliver living with them! And dealing with a teenager and his mood swings is taking its toll.

“Again, Mandy is standing by Luke, because he’s taken her daughter Ella on as his own,” Sarah reminds us. “But bringing a teenage boy into the equation is a big responsibility – it’s not like them having a baby. This is a young adult, someone who has his own ways and his own mindset. Also it’s not something that Luke discussed with Mandy – it’s just been forced on her. So it’s definitely causing a bit of friction between them.”

With all this tension in her romance, it’s no wonder Mandy is looking for a bit of light relief from Darren. And when his dad Jack suffers a heart attack this week, it seems he needs a little TLC, too...

“They just bump into each other, and Darren is in pieces,” explains Sarah. “He Luke how similar they are: Hollyoaks chiefs did a good job of casting Oliver!

Bubbly's on the tray: Mandy fizzes with excitement when she sees Darren and Nancy are bickering at the moment, and Mandy is starting to think that she shouldn't have gone back to Luke. It's not an intentional thing – the chemistry is just there between Mandy and Darren, and I think that's what they can't resist. They just can't help themselves."

But after the pair share another passionate moment, Darren has a crisis of conscience, and tells Mandy that they have to end things. Mandy agrees – but that doesn't stop the green-eyed monster from rearing its head when Leela makes a pass at Darren (see p29)!

"Mandy really has no right to be jealous," reckons Sarah. "But I think the fact that she is shows there are deep feelings between her and Darren. She knows that stopping their affair is the right thing to do, yet she's sad about it ending. She doesn't want there to be any more lying and cheating – but whether she actually believes they can control themselves is another thing!"

Something tells us that this isn't the end of the story. And Sarah certainly hopes not, because she's loving being stuck between her two leading men – Gary Lucy who plays Luke, and Ashley Taylor Dawson, aka Darren.

"I love everyone, but it's nice to be working with people I've known forever," she grins. "It's like going back in time, yet we're old with kids now! Gary and I have been back for months, but we're still going, 'Do you remember that night out we had?' and 'Do you remember when we went to that place?'. We're constantly reminiscing, and it's lovely."

Sarah Ellis

Sarah's FAMOUS FIVE

The star spills the beans on her Hollyoaks cast mates...

1

"Nick Pickard [Tony] has been here for me since day one. He's not that much older than me, but I've always looked up to him. He's the daddy of Hollyoaks – everyone loves him."

2

"Ashley Taylor Dawson [aka Darren] makes me laugh! It's really difficult now we're working together more, because I can't keep a straight face in the serious scenes!"

3

"I love to hang out with all the ladies here – I get on very well with Jess Fox [Nancy]. She's lovely, so it's been really nice to have more scenes with her since I've been back."

4

"I'm still in contact with Ali Bastian [Becca Dean], Jodi Albert [Debbie Dean] and Carley Stenson [Steph Roach] – they're my girls! Ali and Jodi even came to my hen do last weekend."

5

"I'd love more scenes with Amanda Clapham, who plays Holly. It would be good to explore our characters' relationship and work out how we're actually related!"

Battle of the exes!

ANDREW MORLEY AND CARLA BONNER FILL US IN ON JACK AND STEPH'S VERY AWKWARD GETAWAY WITH THEIR FORMER FLAMES...

Going on a camping trip with your partner, your ex, and your partner's ex – who's now with your ex – doesn't sound like a very fun holiday to us! But that's exactly the position Jack and Steph find themselves in this week, when they end up going away with Mark and Paige, their respective exes who also happen to now be together.

To make matters worse, Steph and Mark have no idea that Paige and Jack recently slept together! Clearly that's not going to stay secret for long – so we sat down with Neighbours stars Andrew Morley (Jack) and Carla Bonner (Steph) to find out how it all goes down...

How is Jack feeling in the wake of the night he spent with Paige?

Andrew He feels very bad about betraying Steph, but he doesn't regret being with Paige again – I think that there are feelings from both sides. Jack actually wants to just confess everything that's happened and be honest with Steph, but Paige really wants to keep everything under wraps because there's more regret about what happened on her part.

How do Jack and Steph feel about going on a camping trip with both of their exes?

Carla Well, it all sort of comes about by accident, and there isn't a lot of time to get out of it! It's obviously slightly awkward, but Steph has confidence in her relationship with Jack and feels as though she can cope with seeing Paige and Mark together.

Andrew It's going to be a great episode for the audience to watch, though, because it's constantly bubbling away and you know that something's going to happen – and it does!

So how does Steph end up finding out about Jack and Paige?

Carla Everything is going well and they're making the most of it – until Steph overhears Paige and Jack in the tent talking about how they have slept together! Steph's devastated – the one person she thought would never betray her has broken her heart.

Steph is crushed – this could really rattle her! CARLA

Gabe in arms: Paige and Jack are bonded by their baby boy

Andrew And there's just no hiding from the fact that those words meant exactly that! It's so sad because Steph had just started to really consider a future with Jack. She had seen how good he is as a father, and recognised what that could mean for them.

Carla She even really wants Jack to meet her son Charlie, which is a very big deal for Steph.

Do you reckon there's any way Steph and Jack's relationship could recover from this?

Frame of mind: How will Steph cope after she learns of Jack's betrayal?

Carla No. Steph is crushed, and isn't convinced it was a one-off incident. She believes that Jack and Paige have been together secretly for a while, so she goes to Jack's room at the backpackers to snoop around and find some evidence!

Andrew For Jack, I think the main thing is what's going to happen next between him and Paige. All I can say is that it's not going to be easy, and people could get hurt.

How do you think this will affect Steph's mental state?

Carla I reckon it could really rattle Steph, leaving her with trust issues – not to mention what it would do to her self-esteem. Luckily she has Toadie there for support, but even he struggles to pacify her. I think she just needs to have her sons around, as that's when she's at her happiest!

Andrew is loving being a new father...

He may be an old hand at parenthood on screen – after working with baby Gabe for nearly a year – but Andrew and his real-life girlfriend Jay Haggard have recently welcomed their first child together, daughter Skyla. And the star is besotted with his little'un...

"I know I'm biased as I'm her dad, but every time I look at her I think, 'You're amazing'," gushes Andrew. "She's so beautiful and everyone else adores her, so I'm pretty lucky."

The actor was already stepdad to Jay's son and daughter from a previous relationship, so adding a new member to their brood hasn't been too much of an upheaval.

"Luckily Jay is very relaxed, and experienced in raising newborns," grins Andrew. "I'm going through it all for the first time and learning it on the run. I didn't go to any of those birthing classes they suggest you go to. Jay was like, 'Don't worry, I'll tell you anything you need to know!'"

But Andrew isn't the only new dad on the Neighbours set. His co-star Scott McGregor (Mark) welcomed daughter Evie a few weeks before Andrew's new arrival – so have the doting daddies been sharing tips on changing nappies between scenes?

"Yes, and we've made some failed attempts to meet up with the babies outside work," says Andrew.

"There's always something that crops up – when you have kids you spend more time with their friends than your own!"

They ANSWER!

CLAIR NORRIS

EastEnders' Bernadette

...faces your questions!

Bernie has her work cut out at the moment as she trains to be a chess master. But now it's your move, and time for 20-year-old Clair to tackle your tricky questions...

"Do you reckon you're anything like Bernadette in real life?"

She's a typical moany teenager – not really wanting to go to school and moping around, that sort of thing – and there are some similarities to how I was when I was younger. A lot of the faces I pull as Bernadette, my mum says she recognises from when I was Bernie's age. So I've been tapping into my younger self!

"What was your first day on the set of EastEnders like?"

It was very scary and overwhelming, yet exciting. I'd been in for costume calls and stuff like that in the weeks beforehand, but I hadn't been on set – and didn't know what the atmosphere was like with a director there and the camera crew. It was nice to come in with the family and be in the same boat, though I was very nervous.

"Who have been your Strictly faves?"

"What's it like working with Bronson the dog? And are you a dog lover in real life?"

I love dogs – all the Taylors do, actually. The dog who plays Bronson is great, and so well behaved. If you tell him to sit on the sofa, he just stays there and watches the scene. He's so talented!

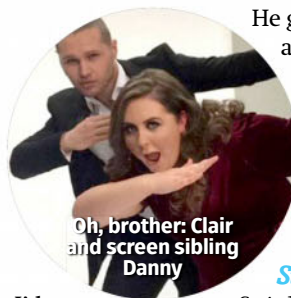

He gets along with everyone – and is very strong! At home I have a King Charles Cavalier called Lucy – very different to Bronson...

"With your ballroom dancing background, who have been your Strictly favourites?"

Strictly Come Dancing is what got me into ballroom in the first place, back when I was 10 or 11. I was already doing other styles of dance, but then I started watching the show, and me and my friend decided to join a ballroom class. I've been doing it ever since! I thought Jake Wood [Max] was amazing in Strictly – and when I joined EastEnders, he was the one I was most star-struck over. I'm in awe of his acting, too, so I'd be too embarrassed to go through any dance moves with him!

"What was it like working with Hannah Spearritt, who played Karen's sister Kandice – and were you an S Club 7 fan?"

Well, I knew who S Club were and I'd listened to their music. It was really nice working with

Oh, brother: Clair and screen sibling Danny

Having a ball: Will we one day see Clair on the Strictly dance floor?

Join the Club: Clair thinks co-star Hannah was on song as Kandice

Hannah, she was lovely. And it was great working out on location together, as I'd not done that before. It was good seeing another side to the Taylors, and maybe Kandice could come back. We'll have to wait and see!

"Would you like to see Bernadette get a love interest? And if so, who would you cast in the role?"

It would be nice to see that side of Bernadette, and it'd be interesting to have somebody who's completely different to her, like chalk and cheese. But it would need to be someone who can deal with Karen, and the brothers, and the dog!

"What do your real-life family think of the Taylors?"

They love them – they're always cracking up at Karen and what the whole family gets up to. Especially when Bernadette has scenes with either Keegan or Keanu, which is very much how me and my real-life brother are. His name is Danny too, actually [just like Danny Walters, who plays Keanu], so it gets confusing sometimes. I go home to my mum and talk about Danny, and she has to ask, "Which one?".

"What's the best thing about having Lorraine Stanley as a screen mum?"

She's the loveliest, funniest woman I've

A walk in the park: The pooch that plays Bronson has impressed Clair with his discipline

"What do your real-life family think of the Taylors?"

ever met. She's so supportive, on screen and off. It sounds like a cliché, but she's literally like my real mum now.

I can go to her about anything. She brings such an energy to Karen, and is so lovely.

"What's your favourite way to spend a day off work?"

Catching up with friends and family. Doing silly things – like tidying my room! I have scripts everywhere in

"If you could play another Taylor for the day, who would it be?"

...asks reader Martin Hart from Chelmsford

Ooh, that's a good question! I think it's got to be Karen. I don't know if I could play her in the same way that Lorraine does, because she's just naturally a very funny person. The writing for Karen is so good, and I would really love to do some comedy.

£20
Question winner!

Taylor-made: The clan have fitted right in since arriving in Albert Square last year there, so it's good to get organised. And I go back to my old college, Miskin Theatre in Dartford, whenever I can – just to see everyone and catch up.

"What do you make of Bernie's fashion sense?"

I love how Bernie dresses. It's a bit of a mishmash – she looks like she's thrown everything on in the dark. Her Where's Wally? jumper is my absolute favourite! She's got a unique sense of style, and she wears what she feels comfortable in. It's completely different to how I would dress, but I like how she's staying true to herself. Sometimes the costume team give me stuff and I'll go, "No, that's too nice – Bernadette wouldn't wear that!".

Reporting for DUTY!

MEET MARCUS GRIFFITHS – THE MAN
PLAYING HOLBY'S HOT NEW MEDIC...

Nothing sets our pulses racing quite like a dishy new doctor on the wards of Holby City – so trust us when we say the hospital drama is well worth a watch this week, as handsome registrar Xavier Duval scrubs in for the first time. But will he be a hit with his colleagues following a controversial debut? Newcomer Marcus Griffiths lifts the lid...

Welcome to Holby, Marcus! How are you settling in?

It's going really great! Most of my previous work had been in theatre, and I'd only done a little bit of television before this – so joining a long-running show like Holby definitely feels like new terrain. I'm loving it so far.

What can you tell us about Xavier? He strikes us as a cool customer...

Ha ha, yes, but there are many sides to him. I guess from the outset, he comes across as very confident and charming, but he's also a bit of an alpha male – and that rubs some people up the wrong way. He certainly has a very fractious relationship with Nicky to begin with – and there are some tense moments with Serena and Donna as well.

Is he a bloke that you could be friends with in real life?

I think the jury is still out for me on that one! Xav has qualities that I admire in that he is very ambitious and driven, which are traits that I think we both share. But I feel I have a bit more empathy than he does. He's a 'Marmite' character who viewers are either going to love or hate – but as the story progresses, you'll see why he behaves the way he does. There is a more generous side to him that is revealed over time, and there are things that he is definitely keeping close to his chest in his personal life that we'll learn in due course as well...

Intriguing! So why do he and Nicky get off on the wrong foot?

They meet in Albie's bar while she and Meena are on a night out together. Xav initially catches Meena's eye, but then he and Nicky end up on an alcohol-fuelled journey which ends with her passing out in an on-call room at the hospital! She can't remember anything the next day, and is trying her best to piece together her memories of the night. Because Xavier enjoys winding people up, he doesn't necessarily help her fill in the blanks – and it sets the tone of their relationship.

Xavier is an alpha male – he rubs people up the wrong way

Are you making a better impression on your Holby colleagues than Xav is?

Well, Belinda [Owusu, who plays Nicky] and Salma [Hoque, aka Meena] often have their lunch in my dressing room – as apparently, I'm one of very few people to have a microwave. This has been an issue of contention because they're always in there heating up their food – but it's been a great way to make friends! Everyone I've worked with so far has been helpful and welcoming.

Are your family and friends excited that you're going to be in Holby?

My nan is a big fan of the show so she'll definitely be tuning in, and my

Savvier about Xavier?: Nicky is bound to figure out that her new colleague is teasing her dad is really thrilled too. He has always wanted a doctor in the family, so I think me playing one is as close as it gets!

Prima Donna: Will Xavier make more friends or enemies on the AAU?

Do you think you'd make a good doctor in real life?

Oh God, no! To be honest, science was never my strong point at school, so I think I chose the right profession. If I can make it look like I know what I'm doing, that is a win for me. Recently, we had a life-size model of the guest star who I was meant to be operating on, and the prop was so incredible that I definitely felt a sense of big responsibility. At least when you're just playing a doctor, you know you haven't really got someone's life in your hands!

Laura-Jayne Tyler

LOVE DOCTOR!

Xavier is set to break hearts on the ward...

Tricky customer Xav will no doubt be the object of much loathing after he butts heads with a few of his colleagues – but inevitably there will be some loving to be had, too...

"He starts off by having a 'friends with benefits' type of relationship with Meena," grins Marcus. "I think she is perhaps a lot more invested in Xav than he is with her, though, as he considers himself a bit of a ladies' man and a charmer."

"As for the future, there are a few characters who I'd like to see him become romantically involved with. There might be a love triangle or a love hexagon – that would be very interesting!"

always been full of strong women!”*

CAMPAIGN AGAINST HER OWN DAD HOTS
UP THIS WEEK,
NICOLA THORP
IS LOVING HER
CHARACTER'S

She's a proper justice warrior," exclaims Corrie star Nicola Thorp, as we discuss her character Nicola's antics this week. But we reckon it takes one to know one! While Phelan's daughter is courageously plotting to expose her dad, her real-life namesake is a vocal supporter of and campaigner for women's rights and equality. And as we settle down for a chat, the actress tells all on her character's fight – and reveals why she loves that the Street is a place where women thrive...

How did you feel when you learned that Nicola was going to try to expose Phelan?

Well, Phelan has always been the one playing other people, hasn't he? So it's great fun playing the daughter who is on to him! I've loved how the dynamic has changed over time.

Nicola is no coward, playing Phelan at his own game. Why is she so determined to fight the fight?

Oh, she's so brave! But she isn't thinking about herself, she just wants the best for the people involved. She is such a strong, feisty woman – she knows Anna is wrongly imprisoned, she knows Luke is dead and that Phelan is responsible for that. Nicola cares so much for Seb and now Anna, who is the grandmother of her child, so she has chosen to put herself in that position.

Pat on her back: Can Nicola finally outwit her devilishly wicked dad?

How confident is Nicola that her plan will work? That Phelan is one slippery customer!

Well, she's confident because she knows there is no way that Phelan would do anything to hurt her or harm her unborn child. She should be very afraid of Phelan, because of what he is capable of, but they have a unique relationship which is not like any of the other characters on the Street. She is his Achilles heel, remember!

While she deals with her dad's wicked crimes, Nicola also has dramas of her own to deal with, since she's carrying her neighbour Gary Windass' baby. This week, she tries to clear to air between herself and Gary's ex, Sarah...

Why does Nicola go to see Sarah?

She has really good intentions. She wants to put things right between Gary and Sarah. She tells Sarah that Gary and her are meant for each other, but Sarah is suspicious since he and Nicola have been spending a lot of time together. Of course, she can't explain why – it's a massive secret!

How have you enjoyed working with Tina O'Brien, aka Sarah?

I was very nervous doing my scene at the Platt's, even though I've been here eight months! I have watched Tina since I was a teenager, so it was really lovely. I hope Nicola and Sarah get more scenes together, because too often women are set against each other – but in this situation, Nicola is not fighting over Gary. She wants Sarah to be happy. But whether they can play happy families, we have yet to find out.

Okay, spill – do you think deep down Nicola has feelings for Gary?

No, I don't think it's romantic. Certainly he is the father of her child and there's a strong emotional connection there, because she cares about him as a person. They are good friends, and Nicola can see how much he still loves Sarah. She knows that she got in the way.

Soap SWAP!

From Coronation Street to Emmerdale...

Nicola makes no secret of the fact that she absolutely adores her job on Corrie. But if the opportunity ever arose for her to make a cameo in a rival soap, she'd jump at the chance...

"I'd love it if soaps had a football-style transfer deadline," confesses the star. "I wouldn't mind going on loan for a pint at the Woolpack!"

We're all for soap crossovers here at Inside Soap, but how would Phelan feel about his daughter ditching Weatherfield for the Dales? We're not sure that little Yorkshire village could survive another serial killer stalking the moors!

Off-screen, star Nicola is well known for her support of gender equality, having campaigned against dress codes for women in the workplace after being asked to wear high heels on a temping job. So she's delighted to be on Corrie – a show known from the start for its strong women...

We presume you're a fan of your character's feisty nature?

Oh, it's great that we've got strong, powerful women on Coronation Street – including Kate Oates, our producer. And my God, it's great to be playing this part, telling Pat Phelan that what he's doing is evil and he can't get away with it!

And soaps can send out a strong message like that to people, too.

That's what's great about them – you can have many generations of a family watching together and then talking about these things. I've had that with my grandma, who is 65 years older than me. When we talk and say, "Well so-and-so off Corrie did that," and we understand the morality and ethics around it. That is a great thing to be part of.

CRACKING ON

PHIL MITCHELL 2010

Sinking low... Phil's mum Peggy found him crawling on the floor upstairs at the Vic in search of his stash. Disgusted by the sight of him, she locked him in the living room to stop him getting any more drugs. But Phil escaped – and during a shock confrontation with Peggy, he set the boozier on fire!

Clean break... With her pub in ruins and realising her part in Phil's downfall, Peggy left Albert Square and Phil got his life back on track.

As Corrie's Billy struggles with addiction this week, he's not the only one whose high hit a low...

NO PAIN, NO GAIN

SHARON MITCHELL 2012

THE PARTY'S OVER

Sinking low... Leanne agreed to help Jez rob the Rovers on New Year's Day, but she got cold feet and the job ended up going dramatically wrong – landing her in hospital after a nasty run-in with one of gangster Jez's thugs.

Clean break... With Jez putting the frighteners on Leanne, she did a runner from Weatherfield to Amsterdam. Thankfully, when viewers saw her a few years later, the lass had put her drug-taking days behind her.

RHONA GOSKIRK 2013

Getting high... Village vet Rhona got hooked on painkillers after injuring her back while giving best friend Vanessa a playful piggyback!

Clean break... Kylie got herself back on track and made a return to Weatherfield five months later, determined to win back the family she'd lost.

DEAL OR NO DEAL?

STE HAY 2013

Getting high... Ste started out dealing drugs – but switched to taking them following the deaths of both his parents.

Sinking low... Ste worked hard to kick the habit – only to be dragged back down when his brother-in-law Cameron got him hooked on meth!

Clean break... Tony paid for Ste to go to rehab – but he still finds himself tempted when life gets tough...

OVER AND OUT

HOLLY BARTON 2016

Getting high... Dales lass Holly vowed shun drugs after a brush with death as a teen. But on her return to the Dales in 2016, she was in huge debt to dealer Dean.

Sinking low... Holly's new dealer Simon set up a robbery to help settle her debts, but it went wrong when Holly's friend Victoria was attacked in the chaos – and Holly crashed the van! There was another wake-up call, too, after Holly's mum Moira stepped on a drugs needle while confronting Simon and feared that she'd contracted HIV.

Clean break... Holly planned a fresh start – but it wasn't to be, as Moira found Holly dead with a used heroin wrapper beneath her bed.

HEADS OUT...

If Inside Soap won a big award, we'd probably celebrate with a huge slab of cake or a few bottles of bubbly. But after Corrie's Lucy Fallon – aka Bethany – was presented with a gong at the NTAs recently, she decided to go all out and treat herself to a trip to the dentist!

It may appear to be an unconventional reward for a year of hard work, but Lucy was grinning from ear to ear as she emerged from her appointment at the dental clinic in Leeds. She'd been getting an invisible retainer fitted to straighten her gnashers – not that we think there's anything wrong with her prize-winning smile.

Sadly, Lucy later reported on social media that her dog had got hold of her new kit – and chewed it to pieces! The pooch clearly wanted some perfect pearly whites as well...

BRIDE-TO-BE SOPHIE CAN'T WAIT TO MARRY HER PRINCE CHARMING...

Shayne popped the question to Sophie last Boxing Day

They've been involved in some pretty disastrous weddings on screen, but now Corrie star Shayne Ward (Aidan Connor) and his new fiancée Sophie Austin – who played Hollyoaks' Lindsey Roscoe – are looking for some inspiration to make their real-life nuptials fabulous!

Bride-to-be Sophie was recently spotted at Bride: The Wedding Show at Tatton Park with a couple of her pals, hoping to lock down some ideas for her upcoming big day. However, Sophie admitted that if she has it her way, she'll be bucking tradition and heading to the US to get hitched...

"I've always wanted to get married in Vegas!" she revealed. "If I had the choice of planning a wedding, I'd rather have a nap! Shayne is better at organising things than I am, so as long as I can pick my dress, I'm happy to leave the rest to him." You should have sent him to the wedding show instead!

NED'S ARMY!

Emmerdale's Joe Tate may employ a henchman to do all his dirty work, but his real-life alter ego Ned Porteous certainly doesn't need any extra muscle, if these snaps are anything to go by!

When he's not playing the most ruthless man in the Dales, it seems Ned loves nothing better than hitting the gym in a bid to define that six-pack. The star is definitely not shy about showing off his toned bod – in fact his Instagram account is littered with pics of his ripped abs! And who can blame him? It's criminal to hide a physique like that underneath Joe's designer shirts...

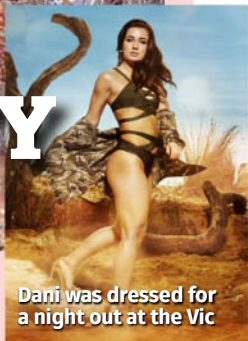

Let's just hope that the Dingles don't get wind of what this muscle man is made of – or it could send them all running in the opposite direction!

Will Joe pull out the big guns in his feud with the Dingles?

REALITY CHECK

Dani was dressed for a night out at the Vic

EastEnders star Danny Dyer (Mick) enjoyed spending some quality time with his daughter Dani recently, before she jetted off to South Africa to take part in new reality TV show Survival Of The Fittest. And as ever, Danny was on hand to impart some pearls of wisdom to his girl before she left...

"When I first told him, he said, 'Don't do anything silly!'" chuckled Dani, who's currently starring in the show on ITV2. "But he knows the person I am and he's really excited – it's nice to have that support at home."

Blast from the past

“People said I was crazy to leave Emmerdale!”

She's hit the headlines with her weight loss, but Lisa Riley still can't escape Mandy Dingle's big presence...

Lovely, bubbly Lisa Riley has always had a reputation for lighting up a room, but these days she's shining brighter than ever. After losing an incredible 12-and-a-half stone, the star is enjoying a whole new lease of life.

For Lisa, it's just the next step on an incredible journey in showbiz, which began with her role as Dales favourite Mandy Dingle. Recently she launched her book Honesty Diet to share her approach to weight loss – and now the public feel closer to her than ever...

“People message me to tell me they've had a pool!” laughs Lisa. “I applaud them, as your plumbing should be working if you are eating and drinking properly! If you're not honest about what you are putting in your body, you won't be able to change. So, when it came to picking a name for my book, there was no other title that I would dream of using!”

Plenty of soap stars have released fitness DVDs and shared their weight-loss stories, but Lisa's experience seems to have resonated more than any other. After seeing her amazing new look, the nation wanted answers – and writing her book became almost a public service.

“I get such enjoyment from seeing the success rate online – it's brilliant,” she grins. “I know how hard it is, and I'm only in this to help people. I didn't get pushed into writing this book, it happened because I was smothered with questions after filming The Baggy Body Club documentary, and I felt as if I had to answer all these people.”

The new Lisa is worlds away from Mandy Dingle, but she says the public haven't forgotten the character that launched her career – and she recalls how shocked her loved ones were when she handed in her resignation.

“Everyone thought I was crazy for leaving Emmerdale, yet I've not been out of work since,” explains Lisa. “I adored my time there, but I wanted to play different characters. She's still talked about wherever I go, though. I flew back from Mexico last year and the two guys that were sitting behind me started singing Mandy by Barry Manilow! Everybody still talks about her food wagon Mandy's Munchbox – it'll go down in history!”

To diet for: The star was in ITV drama Fat Friends

Speaking of flights, one of Lisa's fondest Emmerdale memories involved air travel and a gaggle of Dingle lads.

“When we filmed the Dingles Down Under spin-off DVD, I was on a 27-hour flight with all the Dingle lads, and I was the only girl,” she reveals.

“We took over the whole plane – it was mayhem!”

Lisa also enjoyed wild times when she shared a house with Dales co-stars Mark Charnock (Marlon), Dominic Brunt (Paddy) and Nicky Evans (Roy Glover).

“If those walls could talk!” she teases. “It was like a student house, yet we were all in one of the biggest soaps in the country. We had this Morrisons near our house, and we used to nick the trolleys to bring our shopping home!”

With a BBC drama series called Age Before Beauty about to air and her book on the best-seller list, Lisa has lots going on. So, would she find time to return to Emmerdale and Mandy again?

“People keep telling me, ‘Your Paddy needs you back!’” she chuckles. “But in my last episodes Mandy and Paddy spent the night together, so there could be a mini-me knocking about. I'd be much more interested to see what their child is like – and it'd give Paddy a shock!”

ALL IN THE MIND

ANNA FRIEL REVEALS WHY THE DETECTIVE WILL BE CONFRONTING HER DEMONS IN SERIES TWO...

When the first series of Marcella aired in 2016, if we'd had to describe the behaviour of its heroine in one word, we probably wouldn't have gone for 'stable'. So we were slightly surprised to see DS Marcella Backland at the start of series two acting all calm and professional – and as Inside TV joins star Anna Friel for a chat, it appears we weren't the only ones.

"I thought, 'Gosh, she seems really okay considering her husband's run off with a woman half her age and her kids aren't living with her!'" chuckles the star. "That was my first question – how can she be so okay? I think she's thought, 'Right, that's life, let's move on' – but obviously Marcella's journey is not going to be a happy one, is it?"

Without giving too much away, it's safe to say that Marcella's clean start doesn't last the full hour, and a stressful situation leads her to lash out when she believes one of her kids is in danger. In the aftermath of this violent episode, Marcella is forced to confront her condition head-on at long last.

"We're dealing with mental illness – we go much more into her fugues and why she has them," promises Anna. "She has to face her fears. I think she needs time to sort herself out, and Marcella's drive is to concentrate on her work as a distraction.

"As a mother, sometimes you can go to work and think, 'That's easier because I know what to do'," continues the actress. "Then when you get home there are so many unanswered questions and it's all on your shoulders. You'll watch Marcella's journey and see how she handles it."

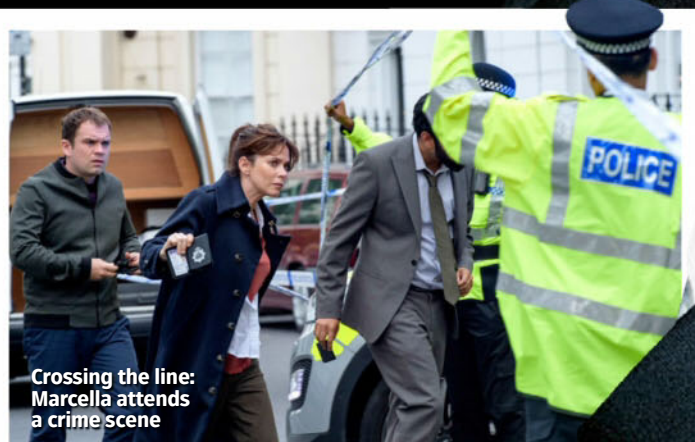

It doesn't help that the case Marcella is working on is inseparable from her personal life – a body found within the walls of a flat during renovations turns out to be that of Leo Priestley, a seven-year-old boy who went missing four years ago and was friends with Marcella's son Edward.

"It's quite dark, because the serial killings this time are to do with children," muses Anna. "Whenever you embark on something that sensitive, it's a tricky thing to deal with."

None of the cast knew the killer's identity while filming series one, and the same was true of series two – but with one big difference for Anna.

"During season one I kept expecting to get to the end and go, 'Well, it's me, I've done it!'" recalls the star. "So I still didn't know who the killer was, but at least I knew it wasn't me this time!"

The Good Place

My favourite show at the moment is The Good Place on Netflix. I'm hooked on that – it's incredibly funny and has real ambition and originality, but also embraces big philosophical ideas. That show has it all! And it's got Ted Danson kicking a dog into the sun, I don't know what more people want.

I very much enjoyed Big Little Lies.

I didn't know what to expect because I hadn't read the novel, but it was fantastic. The cast is insane – when it's like, "Oh, and Laura Dern is in it", you know that it's an unreal show as she's amazing.

There's a glut of good comedies at the moment – Donald Glover's show Atlanta is very distinctive, and GameFace was fantastic. It's great to see someone translating their comedic persona in such an interesting way – it's consistent with Roisin Conaty's stand-up stuff.

I consume Modern Family like ice cream. I very specifically watch it because it just makes me feel better about things. At the opposite end of that spectrum is Larry David and Curb Your Enthusiasm – discomfort is his currency, but I love him so much!

There's a part of me that would love to be in The West Wing, because I would love to be that clever and that good-looking. Even though they work in politics, everyone in The West Wing can rattle off one-liners and statistics – I'd love to have that sort of faculty!

What do you mean you're NOT watching...

REQUIEM | BBC iPlayer

HORROR IS A GENRE THAT ISN'T attempted on telly that often, perhaps because it's much harder to maintain an atmosphere of menace over six hour-long TV episodes than it is in a feature film. But Requiem is a great example of how it can be pulled off as long as you have the right story – this tale of a cellist who believes she's the child who disappeared from a Welsh village two decades ago is full of twists and unanswered questions, and it makes excellent use of its remote, haunting setting. It leaves us feeling properly shivery every episode – and not just because it's winter...

TROY: FALL OF A CITY | BBC1 SATURDAY

ALL'S FAIR IN LOVE & WAR?

LOUIS HUNTER AND BELLA DAYNE STAR IN AN EPIC DRAMA THAT OFFERS A NEW VIEW ON A CLASSIC TALE...

However vague your grasp of Greek mythology is, chances are you know the story of the Trojan War – Helen, wife of the king of Sparta, falls in love with Paris of Troy and elopes with him, which the Spartans consider such an insult that the effort to get her back sparks all-out war.

Being a tale of Greek origin, most versions focus on the perspective of the Greek forces, but this eight-part series considers the situation within the walls of Troy. Inside TV sat down for a chat with Louis Hunter and Bella Dayne, who play Paris and Helen, to find out more...

Did you feel under pressure, playing a love story that sparked a war?

Louis You would hope the chemistry is right, right? I think that the reasons they fall in love make sense. When they meet, he's feeling a bit jailed-in as a member of the Trojan royal family. And he recognises that she feels that way too, so maybe if they can't escape this prison that's built around them by their birth, perhaps they can be in jail together.

Bella I definitely felt pressure – it's the biggest love story of all time, in a way. And it's a love that lasts a long while – the Trojan War was 10 years long, so it's not just a lustful few months. It's true love.

Do you think that will make the series relatable to a modern audience?

Louis Yeah, I think so – love is timeless. It's just that the stakes of this love story are so much higher. You have nations on both sides that are suffering. That's something that's questioned a lot in this show – whether it's worth it.

Bella You have this explosive feeling that everyone wants to feel, but we also explore the obstacles you encounter through such a long time period – what it means to be a woman, and the sacrifices you make. There are lots of female characters, and through them we explore empowerment.

It's a massive production – what was it like to film?

Louis When we were filming battle scenes out in the fields and were dealing with hundreds of extras – that is its own beast. That adds pressure, as if you forget something or fluff a line, there are hundreds of extras whispering behind their hands, "Come on man, get yourself together!"

You shot the series in South Africa – how did the cast relax after filming?

Louis I know actors always say, "We became like a big happy family", but it really was a job where everyone loved hanging out with everyone. We even formed volleyball teams.

Bella Yes we did – it was Trojans versus Greeks!

Louis Hector and Achilles would be staring at each other from across the net going, "Who's going to serve first?"

Trouble and strife: Helen is the focus of a war between the Trojans and the Spartans

MOTHER SUPERIOR

LISA McGRILLIS AND LESLEY MANVILLE STAR IN A NEW SERIES OF THE BITTERSWEET COMEDY...

Although it was very much a tale of a woman coming to terms with the death of her husband, BBC2's beautiful and gentle comedy Mum also told TV's slowest-burning love story. Cathy and Michael constantly danced around their feelings for each other, never quite knowing whether it was right or proper to say anything. And that's understandable, star Lesley Manville tells us...

"Michael is an old, old friend – he was very much part of the family when she was married to her husband," she points out. "Cathy was married for 35 years, she's been with one man – it's difficult to read people when you've been out of the dating loop. Cathy would be thinking, 'Has Michael just flirted with me? Can I say that to him, or will it be misconstrued?'. You're treading on eggshells all the time because you are 60, and you haven't dated for 40 years!"

As the comedy returns to our screens this week, Cathy and Michael are still no closer to getting together – and things aren't helped by Cathy's son Jason and his girlfriend Kelly misreading the situation...

"They think that he's a nuisance and he's pestering her!" grins Lisa McGrillis, who plays Kelly. "It's like, 'Oh my God, can he not read the signals that she's not interested?' That's where the beautiful humour comes from, because bubbling under the surface is this 'will-they-won't-they?' budding romance."

BRITAIN AT LOW TIDE | Channel 4 8PM

As we discovered in the first series of Britain At Low Tide, our coastlines are a treasure trove of historical evidence waiting to be discovered – as long as we're prepared to wait for the sea to go out.

In the first episode of this new series, Tori Herridge and her colleagues from Citizen (that's the Coastal and Intertidal Zone Archaeological Network) head to East Sussex to investigate the remains of Smeaton's Harbour – an ill-fated 18th century engineering project intended to serve the town of Rye, which, Tori points out, is three miles inland.

It took 63 years to build, cost the equivalent of £20m, and closed four months after it opened, so tune in to discover how it went so horribly wrong.

THE VOICE UK | ITV 8PM

Auditioning for The Voice UK is a nerve-shredding experience at the best of times, but our deepest sympathies are always held back for those auditioning in the final blind auditions episode. With each coach's team on the verge of completion, they'll be listening out for something truly exceptional, and something they don't already have – which makes the odds of rejection significantly higher. Who will secure those coveted final spots in the battle rounds?

THE BRITISH ACADEMY FILM AWARDS 2018 | BBC1 9PM

The biggest event in the British film industry's calendar has a new face for 2018, following Stephen Fry's announcement that he would be stepping down as the host after heading up an impressive 12 ceremonies.

In his place, Joanna Lumley will be in charge of introducing the awards while gently ribbing the great and the good of the big screen – and we can't wait to see how she gets on. Leading the field of nominations this year is the otherworldly romance The Shape Of Water, which is competing in 12 categories including Best Picture, Best Director and Best Actress for Sally Hawkins. Mind you, offbeat crime drama Three Billboards Outside Ebbing, Missouri was the favourite to take home Best Picture at the time of writing...

Collision courses

TWO DOORS DOWN | BBC2 10PM

Just last week we said that it was a sign of things getting truly dramatic on Two Doors Down if the action ever moved away from Eric and Beth's living room – and as if to prove our point, tonight's episode follows Eric and Beth to the pub for lunch to celebrate Beth's birthday, courtesy of Ian and Gordon.

But of course, Christine – with her bloodhound's nose for anything on the cheap – pops round at just the right moment to wangle herself an invite.

The 'two courses for £7.95' deal causes great excitement ("some of the starters are practically the same size as main courses!"), but two things soon bring the mood back down again: the arrival of a steaming drunk Colin, and a shortage of haddock in the kitchen.

Building the case

COLLATERAL | BBC2 9PM

After last week's opener set up so many intriguing stories, tonight's second instalment adds more meat to the bones. Sniper Sandrine is back doing her desk job with the Army, while also working through the lasting psychological effects of her time in Afghanistan with the help of her therapist. Elsewhere, David reveals to Kip that Linh thought the killer was female – and after Laurie from the pizza place goes missing, a search of her home turns up something unexpected.

MURDOCH MYSTERIES | Alibi 9PM

The parents of Vik and Sunil Banerjee beg Murdoch for help when their sons go missing from a posh boarding school. But Murdoch's enquiries hit a dead end when neither the pupils nor the professors are willing to talk. So he opts for a less conventional approach, taking advantage of John Brackenreid's youthful complexion to send him undercover as a new student.

DARA O BRIAIN'S GO 8 BIT | Dave 10PM

Josh Widdicombe and The Sky At Night's Dr Maggie Aderin-Pocock join Dara, Ellie, Steve and Sam for hotly-contested bouts of Defender and Football Manager, plus the alarmingly-titled special endgame Cock Oh Van.

LAST WEEK TONIGHT... JOHN OLIVER | Sky Atlantic 10.10PM

The many failings of Donald Trump's presidency have served as rich pickings for John Oliver's satirical current affairs show, and as he begins a brand-new series tonight, something tells us he's unlikely to run short of material.

BENIDORM: TEN YEARS ON HOLIDAY | ITV 9PM

We've got our bags packed ready for our trip to the Solana when the new series starts next week – but let's warm up first with a celebration, marking the fact that we've been making this journey for a full decade now. (Benidorm actually began in 2007, but took a year off in 2013, if you're trying to make the numbers work.)

The show's creator and lead writer Derren Litten is our guide as we explore some of the locations where the show is filmed, while the cast (including a full reunion of the original Garvey family) provide plenty of behind-the-scenes secrets – for example, Tony Maudsley (who plays hairdresser Kenneth) originally auditioned for the role of Mick. "It went to Steve Pemberton – he needed the work," he says magnanimously.

THE DOG RESCUERS WITH ALAN DAVIES | Channel 5 8PM

Between this show and Paul O'Grady's, it's clear that our appetite for heart-wrenching tales of down-on-their-luck dogs shows little sign of waning. Alan's back with his latest 16-part series following RSPCA officers responsible for rescuing our four-legged friends and finding them new homes. Tonight, Inspector Sarah Gardner has a huge task on her hands, when she finds 21 dogs living together in unsuitable conditions – and has to get them all to the vet.

HERE AND NOW | Sky Atlantic 9PM

There's some major talent on board for this new US drama. It's from creator Alan Ball (Six Feet Under and True Blood) and stars Tim Robbins and Holly Hunter as the parents of a mostly-adopted and deliberately multicultural family in Portland, Oregon. Naturally, any family trying this hard to be 'good people' is bound to have secrets, and they duly spill forth at dad's 60th birthday celebrations.

THE BLACKLIST | Sky One 9PM

Remember this season's first episode when we got a flash-forward to Tom's apparent death? Well, tonight's episode brings us to that moment, but will it be lights out for Mr Keen – or has The Blacklist pulled another death fake-out on us?

HOW TO GET AWAY WITH MURDER | Sky Living 10PM

Annalise is trying to get her class-action lawsuit certified by a judge, but those who don't want it to go ahead are trying to set her up for dismissal. Elsewhere, Asher blabs to Frank about Laura and Michaela's grand plan.

Thank you for the music

DON'T Miss!

THE BRIT AWARDS 2018 | ITV 8PM

Hopefully you're not all gonged out after the BAFTAs on Sunday, because tonight it's time to hand out some more trophies: this time to the brightest stars in the music business (or in the case of British Artist Video Of The Year, those who were able to get their fans to make the most noise on Twitter).

And like the BAFTAs, tonight's festivities are also under new management, but in this case it's Jack Whitehall who's making his debut as the host.

In addition to the awards, tonight's show promises performances from the likes of Sam Smith, Rita Ora, Stormzy and Justin Timberlake. Also taking to the stage to showcase their music will be this year's two most-nominated artists: Ed Sheeran and Dua Lipa.

Gone phishing

UNDERCOVER: NAILING THE FRAUDSTERS | Channel 5 10PM

Expert investigator Paul Connolly returns tonight for a second series of the show that brings Britain's biggest scammers under the spotlight. First on Paul's hit list is the scourge of the technological era: phishing. That's when people try to get you to reveal your personal details by pretending to be your bank or a service provider. Demonstrating the scale of what we're up against, Paul comes face to face with a phisher who makes up to £100,000 a week.

DEATH IN PARADISE | BBC1 9PM

Tonight's episode brings the current series to an end, but as you might have spotted on p65, we'll be back in Saint Marie early next year for another dose of post-Christmas sunshine.

Let's focus on the matter at hand, though: Saint Marie's reggae festival is in full swing when Commissioner Selwyn turns up on official business: Billy Springer (Levi Roots of Reggae Reggae Sauce fame), the guitarist in one of the bands, called him up to say he had new evidence regarding an unsolved case that has haunted the commissioner for 30 years.

But when Selwyn and Jack arrive to speak to him about it, he's dead – apparently a suicide, though the timing seems awfully convenient for someone who was about to tip off the police...

GIRLS ON THE EDGE | BBC2 9PM

This hour-long documentary explores the issue of teenagers with mental health problems, through the families of three teenage girls who have been admitted to Fitzroy House, the largest adolescent mental health facility in Europe. Jade is 17, but is hoping to be out by her 18th birthday, while Jess's parents face a 300-mile round trip every weekend to visit her. Elsewhere, 16-year-old Erin is almost ready for release – though her mum is worried about keeping her safe.

YOUNG SHELDON | E4 8.30PM

In this spin-off from The Big Bang Theory, we get to see Sheldon Cooper's often-mentioned Texas upbringing. Iain Armitage plays Sheldon aged nine, as the gifted kid starts high school five years ahead of his peers. It's a bit different from its parent show (no studio audience, for a start), but the relationship between Sheldon and his protective mum (Zoe Perry) gives it proper emotional heft.

THE BIG BANG THEORY | E4 8PM

And the parent show is back tonight too, giving Young Sheldon a nice lead-in. Here, Sheldon and Amy can't quite decide which of their friends should be best man and maid of honour – so they decide to get scientific about it.

CHICAGO JUSTICE | 5USA 9PM

Nagel and Dawson take on a stomach-churning case with the murder of a pregnant woman whose unborn baby was cut out of her body. It's made even more complex when DNA evidence indicates more than one suspect.

Best of the box

GOGGLEBOX | Channel 4 9PM

There will inevitably be a rather bittersweet feel to the latest series of Gogglebox, following the sad news of Leon Bernicoff's death in December, and his wife June's decision not to return to the show without him.

For us, Leon and June were the warm heart at the core of Gogglebox: despite (or perhaps because of) having been with the show since the very beginning, they never seemed to be acting up for the cameras, and their affectionate teasing of each other kept the show grounded. Thank you for the good times, Leon and June – it won't be the same without you.

Of course, the show must go on, and the rest of our panel of armchair critics are here as usual with their instant reactions to the week's major TV moments.

WILL & GRACE | Channel 5 10PM

Megan Mullally's real-life husband Nick Offerman guest stars in tonight's episode as celebrity chef Jackson Boudreaux. His role sees Will and Grace stepping over the one line that so far has remained uncrossed in their relationship: sleeping with the same guy (though not at the same time, we hasten to add). Can they remain all cool and modern about their new boyfriend's sexual fluidity, or will they never be able to look each other in the eye again?

JAMESTOWN | Sky One 9PM

There are mixed blessings on the matrimonial front tonight. On the plus side: Henry marries Chacrow's sister, a union that should serve to smooth over some of the tensions between the settlers

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

"And Steve... if you even think about eating my wife's cake, you're a dead man. A-ha-hahaha-HAHAHA!" Gosh, we're really going to miss Phelan when he's gone.

EastEnders is clearly very proud of the Walford heist plot, given the effort that went into that background portrait of Ciara. It looks like it was painted on the spot!

When Dolly-Rose Campbell is winning countless awards for roles in BBC and ITV mega-dramas, we'll look back on her time in Corrie with great fondness.

The most moving image of the week was this scene of Hollyoaks' cancer-stricken Sienna with her baby. We're so glad to hear that she's now beaten the disease!

BULLSEYE!

After a soap affair, it's natural to feel sympathy for the character who was cheated on – but in the case of Zeedan and Rana, our heart goes out to his unfaithful missus. Partly because Zeedan is being so unbearably awful to her, but mainly because actress Bhavna Limbachia's performance has been so heartbreaking. Please escape your trap of a marriage, Rana, and be happy with Kate!

We instantly warmed to Walford extras Ash and Dan. If only they were living on the Square, so that we could go on their adoption journey with them.

We love how Martin calls Max "the ginger ferret". It makes sense of Stacey's feelings for him. Who could resist an ickle face like that?

Somehow, Emmerdale's Graham seems to be everywhere, all at once, all-seeing and all-knowing. The best twist would be if he turned out to be a pair of twins.

Debbie has proven herself to be a poor excuse for a gangster, and we're absolutely heartbroken that our beloved Ross has paid such a severe price for it. Sob!

Where is Carla finding the energy? She's suffering kidney failure, for crying out loud!

Considering the burdens she carries for many in the village, it's about time Harriet had a proper friend of her own. She's never had anyone to talk to but dead people!
